Yes, I support ALOHAnet as an IEEE Milestone.

Professor Norm Abramson's inventions and analysis of Aloha channels at Hawaii were a fountain of ideas for other network researchers and queuing theorists. At Xerox Parc in 1973 we adopted ALOHAnet's randomized retransmissions for the first Ethernet's packet access method, which we called CSMA/CD – carrier sense multiple access with collision detection.

Robert M. Metcalfe, PhD
UTAustin Professor of Innovation
Recipient of the IEEE Medal of Honor
Eminent Member of IEEE HKN